OLD CHURCH OF THE UNITY, WEST NEWTON STREET, BOSTON.

INTERIOR VIEW OF THE CHURCH OF THE UNITY.

PROBABLY THE FIRST CHURCH IN THE WORLD.

By kind permission of the Boston Herald we give our readers two pictures of the "Church of the Unity," Boston, from whose pulpit we had the pleasure of giving on Sunday, May 21st, 1871, the first address [so far as we have been able to ascertain] on the duty of protecting dumb animals from cruelty ever given by a layman on Lord's day from any Christian pulpit in the world. Since that time we have stood in the pulpits of nearly every Christian denomination—including the Episcopal—and before the altar in the Roman Catholic church—and many times have spoken to large union meetings of churches of various denominations, but this was the first church [so far as we know] in the world from whose pulpit an address on this subject was ever given on Lord's day by any other than a clergyman. GEO. T. ANGELL.

NEW BOOK WHICH MAY REACH AS LARGE A CIRCULATION AS "BLACK BEAUTY."

Our readers will remember that a year ago I offered in behalf of our "American Humane Education Society" a prize of $200 for the best story which could be written illustrating the cruelties inflicted upon animals by the fashionable people of our large cities.

All the stories offered in competition I sent by the American Express to a Philadelphia critic, and in that terrible accident on the Hudson River, where so many lives were lost, they were carried to the bottom of the river. They were finally recovered, put in proper condition and examined by a Boston committee, who reported in favor of one of them, which, in behalf of our "American Humane Education Society," I have bought, copyrighted, and put into the hands of the printer; and in the February edition of Our Dumb Animals shall hope to be able to tell our readers more about it than I now can.

It is a story calculated to make some very rich people more kind to animals than they have been heretofore, and perhaps a million poorer people think more kindly of some very rich people than they now do.

583 HORSES IN ONE DAY.

To prove the importance of keeping the drinking fountains for horses open winter as well as summer we stationed a man near our Dorothea L. Dix fountain, Custom-house Square, on Dec. 14th—a very cold day.

Five hundred and eighty-three horses—nearly all working horses—drank at that fountain during the day.

Dorothea L. Dix did a world of good for human beings during her life-time, and by leaving us $500 to erect this fountain she will benefit the working horses of Boston for a hundred years to come.

In cold weather blanket your horses while stopping.

OUR BAND OF MERCY ORGANIZERS.

Mr. A. J. Leach, our Massachusetts "Band of Mercy" organizer, has organized during the past month one hundred and thirty-nine Bands of Mercy in the schools of Melrose, Natick, Clinton, and Worcester. By unanimous vote of the School Boards of Worcester and Lowell he is to organize "Bands of Mercy" in all the public schools of those cities.

Our Western "Band of Mercy" organizer, Mr. Charles S. Hubbard, has during the past month organized one hundred and seventy-two "Bands of Mercy" in Ohio.

SANDWICH ISLANDS AND SANDUSKY, OHIO.

In our morning's mail of this December 6th we are glad to find reported, among numerous others, eight new "Bands of Mercy" formed at the Sandwich Islands, and fifteen new "Bands of Mercy" just formed in the Roman Catholic Schools of Sandusky, Ohio.

November 23rd we received an order for 300 of our "Band of Mercy" badges for one Band in the Sandwich Islands.

HOW TO HELP OUR COUNTRY.

(1) It seems to us clear that we have in this country a great over-production of products and manufactured goods.

(2) That the remedy is to supply other nations who have not this over-production.

(3) That to do this we must maintain peace with other nations.

(4) That to do this we must contrive in some way to suppress these jingoes who are perpetually disturbing business, frightening our own and foreign investors, lessening the demand for our products and so paralyzing our industries.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

SANDWICH ISLANDS.

A writer, whose article we have just read, declares that it will cost a hundred millions of dollars to fortify the Sandwich Islands, in addition to which it will require a very considerable army and naval force to protect the comparatively few Americans there who propose to govern the Islands by some kind of hermaphrodite government, neither republican nor monarchial—in which nine-tenths of the people are to have taxation without representation, and in which, if any subjects of other nations should happen to get injured, the United States would be called upon to pay the damages. We are most firmly of opinion that the Islands should remain as they always have done, with no fortifications, neutral to all nations, and that if we take them we shall [as we stated in a recent number of this paper] be very much in the condition of the man who is said to have drawn an elephant in a lottery, which he could neither feed, sell nor give away, and which the authorities would not permit him to kill.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

Every kind word you say to a dumb animal or bird will make you happier.

GLAD THE HAYTI MATTER IS SETTLED.

We saw by the papers that when Germany proposed to meddle in some way with Hayti the United States notified Germany that we should not permit them to do anything in regard to Hayti which we did not approve.

Well—Germany has an enormous army very hard to support; a large navy—and almost no seacoast to defend, while we have an enormous seacoast on both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, no standing army of any consequence, and a small navy, with not one dry dock to repair our larger vessels in, and according to the best information we can obtain, no protection whatever for Alaska, or any sufficient protection for any of our large cities from shell that can be thrown into them by vessels lying ten or twelve miles distant, which are not likely to be hit [as naval officers say] by shore batteries.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

THE GERMAN KAISER'S FUN.

We see in various papers that although the Kaiser's left arm is withered, compelling him to rest his gun on the shoulders of his game keepers, it appears from his "Game Book" just published for private circulation among royal personages and court circles of Europe, that he has had the fun of killing with his own hand 33,967 head of game—how many he has wounded and not killed is not stated. We wonder whether he ever read "The Sermon on the Mount."

"Blessed are the merciful," &c.

"ONE OF THEM KINGS."

One of our United States vessels lying in the port of Naples some years ago was visited by a large number of shore dignitaries in most gorgeous uniforms, one of whom carelessly leaning against a canvas ventilating shaft, vanished quickly to the lower regions. An old tar who saw the performance went to the officer of the deck and touching his hat said, "If you please, sir, one of them kings has just tumbled down the hatchway."

We think several kings and princes across the water who cannot find any better occupation than to shoot, wound and kill harmless creatures, simply for the fun of wounding and killing them, might with advantage to the progress of humanity and civilization be tumbled down a hatchway.

We presume if we should say this in Germany we might be arrested for "lese majesty," but in this country we care no more for worthless kings and princes than for other idle and worthless people.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY'S MESSAGE.

That part of President McKinley's message which refers to the annexation of the Sandwich Islands reminds us of the old Dutchman out West, who, when consulted by an Eastern merchant in regard to the financial standing of one of his neighbors, replied, "that when he knew nodings good of a man it was his custom to say nodings at all."

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

We notice that Secretary Long finds Assistant Secretary Roosevelt quite useful. Fire under proper control is very useful, but fire not under proper control may burn up half a city in a single night.

THE MOST DANGEROUS MEN.

The most dangerous men in our country today are the jingoes, who are constantly disturbing our prosperity with their foolish and criminal talk.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

REV. DR. CYRUS HAMLIN.

On November 30th we were pleased to receive a call and a liberal contribution to our work from the Rev. Dr. Cyrus Hamlin, known almost all over the world as American missionary at Constantinople.

The doctor informed us that he was 87 years old, and just starting on a lecturing tour through the Southern States.

Some of our readers will remember an editorial we published in our October issue of a church that wanted no clergyman past 40. A good many churches would be glad to get a chance to hear Rev. Dr. Hamlin, past eighty.

THE PRIME MINISTER OF FRANCE AND THE SPARROWS.

We find in Boston and New York papers the following important action of the Prime Minister of France:

NEW CHAMPION FOR THE SPARROW.

The sparrow has found an unexpected champion in the Prime Minister of France. The farmers have recently been agitating in favor of the extermination of the little bird, and succeeded so far that a decree was submitted to Premier Mellin for signature, giving orders for the destruction of the bird throughout the country by all available means. Before giving his sanction to the measure the Prime Minister determined to make an investigation, in the course of which he has received so much information in favor of the birds, especially from the Forestry Department, that he has not only refused to sign the decree, but has announced that he is about to take steps to promote the increase of the species in consequence of its usefulness. It seems that the harm that they do to the crops is more than counterbalanced by the benefits which they confer in destroying the caterpillars, worms and other insects that are so detrimental to trees.

The Boston Journal of November 24th adds:

The sparrow has found a powerful helper in the person of the French Premier, who has not only refused petitions looking to the extermination of the sparrow, but is actually arranging for the propagation of those birds, on the ground that the benefit which they confer in destroying caterpillars more than offsets the harm they do to crops.

SPECULATORS AND CARPET-BAGGERS.

What do the speculators and carpet-baggers who have taken possession of the Sandwich Islands ask us to do?

(1) Spend 100, perhaps 1,000 millions of dollars to fortify and defend them with army and navy against the whole civilized world, many of whose subjects are already on the Islands and liable to get us into constant trouble.

(2) Bring in 100,000 Asiatics [saying nothing of lepers] to compete with American labor.

(3) Run the risk of losing Alaska and having our large coast cities held to pay heavy ransoms.

And all this when we ought to have (1) 100,000 men at work on our Mississippi and other levees—(2) another 100,000 constructing ship canals to connect New York, Chicago and New Orleans [saying nothing of another across upper Florida to connect the Gulf of Mexico with the St. Johns river at Jacksonville], and (3) another 100,000 or 500,000 making proper roads such as we find in Europe, and ought to find here.

Founders of American Band of Mercy.
GEO. T. ANGELL and REV. THOMAS TIMMINS.

Officers of Parent American Band of Mercy.
GEO. T. ANGELL, President; JOSEPH L. STEVENS, Secretary.

Over thirty thousand branches of the Parent American Band of Mercy have been formed, with probably over a million members.

PLEDGE.

"I will try to be kind to all harmless living creatures, and try to protect them from cruel usage."

Any Band of Mercy member who wishes can cross out the word harmless from his or her pledge. M. S. P. C. A. on our badges means "Merciful Society Prevention of Cruelty to All."

We send without cost, to every person asking, a copy of "Band of Mercy Information" and other publications.

Also without cost, to every person who writes that he or she has formed a "Band of Mercy" by obtaining the signatures of thirty adults or children or both—either signed or authorized to be signed—to the pledge, also the name chosen for the "band" and the name and post-office address [town and State] of the president:

1. Our monthly paper, "OUR DUMB ANIMALS," full of interesting stories and pictures, for one year.
2. Mr. Angell's Address to the High, Latin, Normal and Grammar Schools of Boston.
3. Copy of Band of Mercy Songs.
4. Twelve Lessons on Kindness to Animals, containing many anecdotes.
5. Eight Humane Leaflets, containing pictures and one hundred selected stories and poems.
6. For the President, an imitation gold badge.

The head officers of Juvenile Temperance Associations, and teachers and Sunday school teachers, should be presidents of Bands of Mercy.

Nothing is required to be a member but to sign the pledge, or authorize it to be signed.

Any intelligent boy or girl fourteen years old can form a Band with no cost, and receive what we offer, as before stated.

The prices for badges, gold or silver imitation, are eight cents large, five cents small; ribbon, gold stamped, eight cents, ink printed, four cents; song and hymn books, with fifty-two songs and hymns, two cents; cards of membership, two cents; and membership book, eight cents. The "Twelve Lessons on Kindness to Animals" cost 25 cents for the whole, bound together in one pamphlet. The Humane Leaflets cost twenty-five cents a hundred, or eight for five cents.

Everybody, old or young, who wants to do a kind act, to make the world happier and better, is invited to address, by letter or postal, GEO. T. ANGELL, Esq., President, 19 Milk Street, Boston, Mass., and receive full information.

Good Order of Exercises for Band of Mercy Meetings:
1—Sing Band of Mercy song or hymn, and repeat the Pledge together. [See Melodies.]

2—Remarks by President, and reading of Report of last meeting by Secretary.

3—Readings, "Angell Prize Contest Recitations," "Memory Gems," and anecdotes of good and noble sayings and deeds done to both human and dumb creatures, with vocal and instrumental music.

4—Sing Band of Mercy song or hymn.

5—A brief address. Members may then tell what they have done to make human and dumb creatures happier and better.

6—Enrollment of new members.

7—Sing Band of Mercy song or hymn.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

Band of Mercy Hymn.

RING THE BELLS OF MERCY.

BY EMILY BRYANT LORD, OF BUFFALO, N. Y.

Tune—"Onward, Christian Soldiers."

Ring the bells of mercy,
Ring them loud and clear,
Let the music linger
Softly on the ear,
Filling souls with pity
For the dumb and weak,
Telling all the voiceless
We for them will speak.

Ring the bells of mercy
Over hill and plain,
Let the ancient mountains
Chant the glad refrain,
For where man abideth,
Or creature God hath made,
Laws of love and kindness
On each soul are laid.

Ring the bells of mercy
Over land and sea,
Let the waiting millions
Join the jubilee;
Peace on earth descending
Fill the human breast,
Giving to the weary
Sweet and blessed rest.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

(1) We wish a Happy New Year to all the innumerable millions of God's lower creatures whose protection from cruelty we are trying to promote.

(2) We wish a Happy New Year to the between one and two million members of our "Bands of Mercy," and to the thousands of good friends who are helping us to carry on our work.

(3) We wish a Happy New Year to every man, woman and child in the whole world who deserves it.

RING, HAPPY BELLS.

Ring, happy bells, across the snow,
Ring out the old, ring in the new,
Ring out the false, ring in the true.

Ring in the valiant man and free,
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be.

TENNYSON.

Then pealed the bells more loud and deep,
"God is not dead! nor doth he sleep!
The Wrong shall fail, the Right prevail,
With peace on earth, good-will to men!"

LONGFELLOW.

OUR DUMB ANIMALS.

Boston, January, 1898.

ARTICLES for this paper may be sent to GEO. T. ANGELL, President, 19 Milk St.

BACK NUMBERS FOR DISTRIBUTION.

Persons wishing Our Dumb Animals for gratuitous distribution can send us five cents to pay postage, and receive ten copies, or ten cents and receive twenty copies. We cannot afford larger numbers at this price.

TEACHERS AND CANVASSERS.

Teachers can have Our Dumb Animals one year for twenty-five cents.

Persons wishing to canvass for the paper will please make application to this office.

Our American Humane Education Society sends this paper this month to the editors of about twenty thousand newspapers and magazines.

OUR AMBULANCE

Can be had at any hour of the day or night by calling Telephone 357, South Boston.

Horse owners are expected to pay reasonable charges.

In emergency cases of severe injury, where owners are unable to pay, the ambulance will be sent at the expense of the Society.

SUBSCRIPTIONS AND REMITTANCES.

We would respectfully ask all persons who send us subscriptions or remittances to examine our report of receipts, which is published in each number of our paper, and if they do not find the sums they have sent properly credited, kindly notify us.

If correspondents fail to get satisfactory answers please write again, and on the envelope put the word "Personal."

My correspondence is now so large that I can read only a small part of the letters received, and seldom long ones.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

We are glad to publish this month ten hundred and nineteen new branches of our Parent Band of Mercy, making a total of thirty thousand eight hundred and sixty-two.

HON. HENRY B. HILL.

A good friend writes our Vice-President, Hon. Henry B. Hill, inquiring whether we should allow girls who wear birds on their hats to become members of "Bands of Mercy." Mr. Hill replies that the mission of our "Bands of Mercy" is to call sinners to repentance.

"Parson," said the mean man, "times air hard and groceries high, but sich as it is yer welcome; will you ax a blessing?" "I will," said the Parson, which he did as follows—"Lord make us thankful for what we are about to receive and give your servant strength to get home in time for dinner."

ALL NORMAL SCHOOLS.

In addition to the immense circulation of Our Dumb Animals elsewhere, we have ordered it sent regularly to every normal school in the United States.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

PROTECTION OF ANIMALS.

At the December meeting of the directors of "The American Humane Education Society" and "Mass. Society P. C. Animals," held on the 15th ult., President Angell reported that the agents had dealt during the month with 598 complaints of cruelty, taken 59 horses from work, and mercifully killed 97 horses and other animals; 475 fish and grease-men's horses had been examined, also about 70 horses in the swill yards, and many horses examined evenings and nights at depots, theatres, etc. A large number of cows at Brighton and Watertown markets had been examined and dealers warned that they must not permit them to become bagged.

The "Bands of Mercy" have now reached a total of 30,639.

OUR CREED.

Our creed and the creed of our "American Humane Education Society," as appears on its battle-flags—its badges—and its official seal, is "Glory to God," "Peace on Earth," "Kindness, Justice and Mercy to every living creature."

GEO. T. ANGELL.

One thing we must never forget, namely: that the infinitely most important work for us is the humane education of the millions who are soon to come on the stage of action.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

What do you consider, Mr. Angell, the most important work you do?

Answer. Talking each month to the editors of every newspaper and magazine in North America, north of Mexico.

DO AND DON'T.

While there are lots of people in our own and foreign countries who appreciate the work of our "American Humane Education Society," we occasionally get letters from persons who have no more conception of its magnitude and grandeur than a donkey traveling through the streets of Rome has of the great Cathedral of St. Peters, or the wonderful art treasures gathered in the churches and palaces of that ancient city.

SAYS TRULY.

The Wakefield (Mass.) Item, closing an editorial on the good work of our "Band of Mercy" organizer in organizing "Bands of Mercy" in all the schools of that town, says:

"The American Humane Education Society is the noblest charity of the age. It should be a source of pride to all Christian people of all creeds that the State of Massachusetts takes the lead in this noble work of humane education."

LOCKPORT, NEW YORK.

Mrs. J. Peterson, of Lockport, writes us that she had over two thousand children at her "Band of Mercy" meeting on October thirtieth.

NATICK.

We are glad to learn on this December 9th that our "Band of Mercy" organizer, Mr. Leach, has just enlisted more than one thousand boys and girls in the town of Natick in our "Bands of Mercy," the superintendent of public schools and teachers joining most heartily and enthusiastically to aid on the good work.

TRINIDAD, WEST INDIES.

We are glad to receive a very large order for our "Band of Mercy" songs from Trinidad, West Indies.

MELROSE, MASS.

Glad to see from the Melrose Reporter that the fifty-two schools of Melrose have all organized branches of our "Band of Mercy."

NEW BRIGHTON, LONG ISLAND.

Glad to receive a large order for our humane literature from New Brighton, including 150 copies of "Humane Horse Book," 50 copies of "Our Gold Mine at Hollyhurst," etc., etc.

DETROIT, MICHIGAN.

Glad to know from Mrs. A. E. McIntire that Bishop Gillespie, of Grand Rapids, Mich., has arranged to have an annual sermon on kindness to animals preached in every pulpit in the western diocese of Michigan, which is under his jurisdiction.

OHIO.

Mrs. Emma Rood Tuttle, of Erie County, Ohio, writes to say that eight "Angell Prize Contests" in humane speaking have recently been held in her county with great success. She orders a lot of our silver prize medals.

CATSKILL, NEW YORK.

We are glad to receive on December 8th from Catskill, New York, an order accompanied by check, for sixteen hundred and sixty copies of our humane books and publications.

THAT DARTMOUTH COLLEGE CAT FARM.

We have on this December 6th a copy of the Hanover Gazette, Hanover, N. H., where Dartmouth College is located, stating that the cat farm article published in this paper has been copied into at least half a hundred papers in various parts of the country.

(YALE.)

We see from statements in various papers that half a dozen Yale sophomores [by lying and deception] contrived to get a young freshman [who is having a hard up-hill fight to work his way through college] seized by the police and locked up in a padded cell in the town poor-house at Springside, where, with no knowledge whatever of why he was locked up or who had caused it, he was made almost insane. For the honor of Yale these half a dozen devils ought to be not only expelled from the college but locked up in state prison for at least a year with a few days of solitary confinement.

TO EDUCATE THE BRAINS.

Millions are poured into our colleges and universities to educate the brains of America, while almost nothing is done to educate the heart.

FOR THE LEGISLATURE.

THE OLD GENTLEMAN THOUGHT IT WAS A BAD PLACE.

"He writes from out in Denver, an' the story's
mighty short;
I just can't tell his mother—it'll crush her poor ole heart;
An' so I reckoned, parson, you might break the news to her—
Bill's in the legislatur', but he don't say what it's fur."

OUR MASSACHUSETTS STATE BOARD OF LUNACY AND CHARITY.

It is related that owing to the unexpected absence of a clergyman one Sunday morning one of the deacons undertook to speak from the pulpit, but observing that some of the audience were inclined to be amused, stopped and said—"If any of you down there think you can do any better than I can
I would like to have you come up here and try it."

Judge Parker, many years ago Chief Justice of New Hampshire, and afterwards leading Professor at our Harvard Law School, was informed one day that the legislature, on political grounds, proposed to cut down his salary. He immediately notified them that unless they raised his salary he should resign.

We do not exactly know the history of this movement against our State Board of Lunacy and Charity which has occupied so many columns of our newspapers in the last few months, but we understand that they are charged with attempting to prevent some legislation relating to the Board, which was calculated in their opinion to do harm.

The Board, as we understand it, deny that they have made any such attempt.

Now what we want to say is, (1) The Board [as we understand] is composed of honest, intelligent and philanthropic gentlemen and ladies, who [like our Park Commissioners] work without any pay whatever, except the privilege of being abused by people who choose to differ from them in opinion.

(2) If we were on that Board and believed any legislation proposed at the State House relating to the Board was wrong we would not only tell the legis- lature what we thought about it, but the whole Commonwealth of Massachusetts so far as we were able, and we would not care two straws whether what we said and wrote was called lobbying or not.

A good many years ago the legislature of Pennsylvania requested the Governor to remove certain officers under a law which said "the Governor may remove." The Governor refused to do it.

Thereupon the legislature passed a resolution instructing the Governor to remove those officers, and through their committee presented it to him. The only reply they got was, "Does the legislature of Pennsylvania mean to instruct me that the plain English word may means must? I will show the legislature that it means won't."

LONDON A HORSE'S HELL.

In the Boston Transcript of Dec. 14th we find the London Echo declares London to be the horse's pur- gatory and hell, and thinks the money spent in the Duchess of Portland's home for them, where only 91 out of 300,000 were temporarily rested last year, might be more profitably spent in humanely educating the public and particularly the children, for their protection.

Over 30,000 of our "Bands of Mercy" in America have done already and are doing much in that direction.

"BLESSED

We have recently had hung in our principal office [in a large

names of those who have kindly remembered our

in their wills.

When we

we intend to have them so
engraved in it
as to last

centuries.

HAPPY NEW YEAR.

The Donkey [with his melodious voice] drops in to wish them all a
"Happy New Year."

THE CRUELTY OF THE ROYAL HUNT.

The English press is accustomed to hold up its hands in pious horror at the accounts of what it is wont to term the blood-curdling exhibitions of cruelty which take place in connection with the occasional bull-fights at Nimes and other places in France, but it has not a word of protest against the sickening exhibitions which take place every year when Her Majesty's buckhounds meet under the shadow of the royal residence at Windsor, and,
under the guidance of their noble master for the time being, torture an unhappy deer to death in one of many various ways. The last meet, for instance, which, it is needless to say, was graced by a number of lords and ladies of very high degree, seems to have been a most disgusting exhibition. After the deer—which, by the way, is practically a tame one—had been turned out of the cart in which it was driven to the throwing-off place, it made a most desperate struggle for escape from the savage hounds which were in pursuit. In the course of its plucky run it twice crossed the Thames, and finally sought protection in the grounds of a private house. As it was badly wounded, Lord Coventry, who is the present master of the buckhounds, called the dogs off, and ordered the hunt servants to recapture the deer and save it for another day. But the animal, mad with fright, did not understand the honor which was in store for
it. It jumped a six-foot fence, which bordered the lawn on which it had taken refuge, and made across the park towards the Countess of Wilton's house—the Hatch. It now seemed as though its capture was certain, for the hunt servants had been re-enforced by a number of outsiders who looked upon the chase as being very good sport, and who turned it into what is called a laundry-walk—a narrow avenue hemmed in by a brick wall, headed by spiked railings. The huntsmen, excited and volliferous, closed up, and the unfortunate animal, maddened by pursuit, made a desperate rush for the wall and tried to leap it. It succeeded in reaching the top, but there it slipped, cut itself on the sharpened spikes and hung impaled. Before the hunts-men could climb to its release its struggles resulted in even more serious injuries. It was in fact partially disembowelled, and hung there groaning with pain and fright. The noble master, who by this time had reached the spot, saw that the animal's condition was hopeless, and ordered one of the whips to perform the happy despatch. This is by no means an exceptional case, and yet, year by year, the royal buckhounds meet, and the position of master is looked upon as one of the most coveted and honorable of court appointments.—London cor- respondent Philadelphia Ledger.

If this had happened in Massachusetts I would have had every mother's son of them arrested, and if I had the power I would have had every one of them tied to a whipping-post and forty lashes soundly laid on to the bare backs of every one of the cowardly scoundrels.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

SORROWFUL WORK.

I was out in the woods this mornin',
Afore you was up, I know;
And I killed a couple of partridge
And a dozen squirls or so.

When comin' round the corner,
Thar by old Thrasher's Creek,
I seen somethin' down in the bushes,
A runnin' it like a streak.

I was allers proud of my shot, Phil,
Have won many a beef, you know;
And 'fore I thought, I jest jerked up,
And pulled down on that doe.

You better b'lieve I fotch'd it,
As good as a mortal could;
For it jest drapped down on the grass there,
In a little red heap of blood.

I was up by its side in a minute;
But it seemed that I somehow shook
When them purty brown eyes come open
With a pitiful sort o' look.

I know I'm rough and ugly,
And they say I'm surpisen' bad;
But if I hadn't tetch'd that rifle
I'd 'a' been uncommon glad.

For thar was a hole in the shoulder
Where you might 'a' stuck your fist,
And the big bright eyes was kivered
With somethin' that looked like mist.

But still they went straight through me,
Though how, I can never know,—
With a look like a little baby
That died not long ago.

It made me feel mighty quivery,
With one or two looks like these;
So I out with my knife in a second,
And put the poor thing at ease.

I dunno why I done it,
It was sorter ondignified,—
But I jest plumped down thar by it,
Right flat on the ground, and cried.

Well, yes, I guess I'm foolish,
And you may think less o' me, Phil,
But I wouldn't 'a' killed that critter
For a fifty-dollar bill.

KENTON MURRAY.

DID NOT DO MIRACLES.

A little town near Providence boasts a church whose pastor, besides being an eloquent preacher, is a man of stalwart proportions. At one of his evening prayer meetings the services were disturbed by two young men, who audibly scoffed at everything they saw or heard. Finally the pastor remonstrated with them on their behavior, and asked them why they attended the meeting.

"We came expecting to see miracles performed," impudently replied one of the rascals. Leaving the desk and walking quietly down the aisle, the pastor seized one after the other by the collar, and, as they disappeared out of the door, remarked: "We don't perform miracles here, but we do cast out devils."

Boston Globe.

TO ALL CLERGYMEN IN THE UNITED STATES AND ELSEWHERE.

In the Sunday-school of a large church in Baltimore they have decided to secure a large number of annual subscriptions for Our Dumb Animals. The solicitor's commission, namely, twenty-five cents on each copy, to be given to aid in church work. Our regular price is fifty cents a copy.

If in every Sunday-school of the United States the same plan should be adopted, it would raise the circulation of Our Dumb Animals to millions, and at the same time raise in every Sunday-school a considerable amount of money to be used for church work or any other work that the Sunday-school may choose to give it to.

HENRY WARD BEECHER'S IDEA OF HEAVEN.

"I could hardly wish to enter heaven did I believe its inhabitants were idly to sit by purling streams, fanned by balmy air.

"Heaven, to be a place of happiness, must be a place of activity. Has the far-reaching mind of Newton ceased its profound investigations? Has David hung up his harp as useless as the dusty arms in Westminster Abbey? Has Paul, glowing with God-like enthusiasm, ceased itinerating the universe of God? Are Peter and Cyprain and Edwards and Payson and Everts idling away an eternity in mere psalm singing? Heaven is a place of restless activity, the abode of never-tiring thought. David and Isaiah will sweep nobler and loftier strains in eternity, and the minds of saints, unclogged by cumbersome clay, will forever feast on the banquet of rich and glorious thought. My young friends, go on; you will never get through. An eternity of untiring action is before you, and the universe of thought is your field."

CARDINAL GIBBONS WOULD PROTECT THE BIRDS.

BALTIMORE, Dec. 20.—Cardinal Gibbons, leading Protestant ministers, lawyers and a number of prominent society women are interested in a bill to be introduced in the legislature for the protection of song-birds in Maryland. The cardinal, in speaking of the proposed law, said last night: "I am in thorough accord with the proposition to have the birds protected, and my words cannot be clothed in too strong language. We are a nation of vandals. Birds make the choir of the heavens, and they should by all means be protected. I have spoken of the slaughter of the poor little songsters, and I am delighted that measures will be taken by which they will be guarded."—Boston Transcript, Dec. 20, 1897.

OUR DUMB ANIMALS.

What is its circulation?
Answer—Regularly between 50,000 and 60,000, and sometimes it has been from 100,000 to 200,000.

IT GOES EACH MONTH TO

All members of our two Humane Societies. Several thousands of business firms and men. All Massachusetts clergy, Protestant and Roman Catholic. All Massachusetts lawyers, physicians, bank presidents and cashiers, postmasters, school superintendents, large numbers of writers, speakers and teachers through the State. About 500 of the Society's agents in almost every Massachusetts city and town.

"Bands of Mercy" through the State. Many subscribers and others through the State. The Boston police. The Massachusetts legislature. Hundreds of coachmen, drivers and teamsters. The editors of all Massachusetts newspapers and other publications. Many newspaper reporters.

All our Humane Societies throughout the entire world. Large numbers of subscribers in our own and foreign countries. Thousands of our Bands of Mercy in our own and other countries. Members of our National Congress. Presidents of all American Colleges and Universities north of Mexico. Writers, speakers, teachers, and many others in various States and Territories. The editors of about twenty thousand American publications, including all in our own country and British America.

Of these about twenty thousand we have good reasons for believing that not less than nineteen thousand, and perhaps more, are read either by editors or by their wives and children.

"The Humane Horse Book," compiled by George T. Angell, is a work which should be read by every man, woman and child in the country. Price, 5 cents.—Boston Courier.

For Light to Benefit Mankind, written by a New York Vice-president of our American Humane Education Society—gratuitously circulated by American Humane Education Society—write us.

In hiring a herdie, coupe, or other carriage never forget to look at the horses and hire those that look the best and have no docked tails. When we take a herdie we pick out one drawn by a good horse, tell the driver not to hurry, but take it easy, and give him five or ten cents over his fare for being kind to his horse. We never ride behind a dock-tailed horse.

Is it cruel to keep a horse locked up in a stable without exercise?

Answer: Just as cruel as it would be to keep a boy, or girl, or man, or woman in the same condition.

If to this is added solitary confinement without the company of other animals then the cruelty is still greater.

ANGELL PRIZE CONTESTS.

A splendid way to raise money in schools, churches, Sunday-schools, or elsewhere for any object preferred.

ANGELL PRIZE CONTESTS IN HUMANE SPEAKING.

We have beautiful sterling silver medals, of which this cut shows the size and face inscriptions.

On the back is inscribed "The American Humane Education Society."

We sell them at one dollar each, which is just what we pay for them by the hundred.

Each is in a box on red velvet, and we make no charge for postage when sent by mail.

The plan is this: Some large church or public hall is secured, several schools or Sunday-schools are invited to send their best speaker or reciter to compete for the prize medal; some prominent citizen presides; other prominent citizens act as the committee of award, and a small admission fee, ten or twenty cents, pays all the costs, and leaves a handsome balance for the local humane society or "Band of Mercy," or school or Sunday-school or church or library or any other object preferred.

It is a splendid and easy way to raise money.

We have a book of 192 pages describing the plan and containing beautiful selections to be used by the speakers and reciters in these contests, which our "American Humane Education Society" sends to those who are going to contest, on receipt of six cents in postage stamps to pay postage; and to all others for sixteen cents in postage stamps, which is precisely what they cost us with postage.

Every school taking part wants to attend, so do parents and friends; good music is added, and a full audience is insured, and a very enthusiastic one, for every school of course cheers its champion, and, for a week after, the merits of what was said and how it was said will be discussed, not only by children but by parents.

As before stated, these prize contests have been already recommended by the Master of the National Grange for all the Granges of our country—also by the National Superintendent of the Department of Mercy of the W. C. T. U., to be adopted by that organization all over the country, and they have attracted notice from the press as far off as London and Australia.

We have already many orders for both books and medals, and on our table are interesting accounts of their success in various cities and towns.

PERSIAN LAMBS' FUR.

We find in the New York Journal of November 21st, the following article in regard to "Persian Baby Lambs' Fur," and very earnest letters in regard to the same from Mrs. John Sherman, wife of our Secretary of State at Washington, Mrs. Gen. John A. Logan, and Mrs. Rev. Dr. Rainsford. We are going to take vigorous measures to have this matter thoroughly investigated, and see what, if anything, can be done in both Persia and America to prevent the terrible wrong which our investigations may show:

"Sealskin has gone out.

Persian Baby Lamb has come in.

Every woman with any pretension to "smart" dressing has a bit of Persian Baby Lamb somewhere about her dress.

It is very expensive.

A Persian blouse of Persian baby lamb costs $300, and it will wear decently about two years.

It is made from the skin of the unborn lambs. The ewes are fed on certain foods which stimulate the sheen and delicacy of the fur, and then the ewe is killed and the little unborn lamb is skinned. The skin is not much bigger than the breadth of a pair of decently sized hands. It is the finest and most delicate fur in the world.

It is so black that sable looks a rusty brown beside it; and it is so fine and so soft that the finest silk of the softest mull looks coarse by contrast.

The Journal has been asked to tell the women of America the truth about that fad—and what it means in agony and suffering to a harmless little creature. Women who would not give pain to the slightest living thing are buying these pitiful little skins, and wearing them as calmly as if they were roses grown in a garden full of sunshine.

To get the true delicacy and shimmer to the fur, so that every woman who sees it will know that it is genuine "baby lamb," the poor little creature must be torn alive from its mother. The mother is killed afterward.

Her skin does not shine so much, so she is not the fashion.

It takes at least twenty of these pitiful little skins to make even a short coat. They have to be perfectly matched, so that the "crinkle" will run the same way, and that one side of the coat will not be more curly than the other.

For one coat forty miserable little animals are made to suffer torture beyond human imagining. For one collar four living creatures must die in hideous agony.

Yet, baby lamb is the fashion; and the gentlest women are rushing to buy it to adorn their daughters and make them beautiful.

The furriers are displaying the tiny skins in their windows. It does not pay to make them up unless they are made to order.

Every woman who buys an inch of that skin knows what she is doing, for the saleswomen hasten to tell her that it is "no imitation. It is the real thing—the unborn lamb, torn from its mother just as the fur is at the best."

Two women with the little silver cross of the King's Daughters pinned upon their gowns bought a baby lamb coat apiece up at a fifth avenue shop the other day.

And a woman who belongs to two societies for ethical culture and society for the prevention of cruelty to animals bought twenty-five of the skins to make her daughter's skating dress pretty.

Yet there have been cynics who say that women are inconsistent."

ANDREW JACKSON.

Colonel Thomas H. Benton—"Old Bullion"—who for thirty years was a senator of the United States from the State of Missouri, was an intimate friend of General Andrew Jackson, the hero of New Orleans and president of the United States, though they had been bitter enemies in their younger days. But years afterwards, when age had whitened their hair and corrugated their brows, Colonel Benton visited "Old Hickory" at his famous residence, "The Hermitage." He arrived on a cold, sleety evening—and how does the reader suppose that the stern old hero was engaged? Colonel Benton relates—and he sets it forth as an evidence of Jackson's innate kindness of heart—that he found the ex-president feeding and warming a poor little suffering lamb by the kitchen fire! He had to be excused for a short time to finish his work of mercy.—Daily Iowa Capital, Dec. 14, 1897.

OUR SOCIETY IN THE PRAYER-MEETING.

We had, a few days since, occasion to warn a prominent church member in a suburban town against the alleged overworking of his horse; the good man took his letter to the prayer-meeting, and making known to some of his brethren its contents, asked if they would vouch for him to "the Society" as a humane man, whereupon one of the deacons responded, "that his old horse was unfit to drive any way, and he'd better get another." The sentiment was echoed by a number of brother members, and hence "our Society" has not yet received any letter endorsing him.

While our Agents often meet our official letters in the court room, this is the first instance coming to our knowledge where one has got into a prayer-meeting.

GREASED PIGS.

Boston papers of November 26th and 27th, and lots of others in different parts of the country, have with various comments called attention to our officers stopping on Thanksgiving Day the "sport" of chasing greased pigs. The "sport" so called, whatever it may be to humans, is liable to be anything but "sport" to the pigs, so we warned the promoters to look out for prosecutions if they violated the law, which they very properly refrained from doing.

Years ago the great showman, Barnum, proposed to send up an old horse tied under a balloon. We notified him that we would prosecute him to the extent of the law. He didn't care much for a fine but thought it better not to take the risk of imprisonment.

IMPORTANT TO BUSINESS MEN.

How can any man engaged in large mercantile business better advertise than by presenting to the public schools of his city or town a large number of copies of this paper, or "Black Beauty," or our other humane publications. Every newspaper in his city or town would make kind mention of such a presentation, and every child in the public schools would carry the good news to all its family at home.

WESTERN EDITORS.

A Western editor wants us to be a candidate for President of the United States. We respectfully decline.

Another Western editor [Colorado] thinks we shall wear a golden crown in the great hereafter and have one taken off the end of our name.

We thank our friend for his good opinion, but what we want just now is a lot of golden crowns to be used right here in the extension of our work, and all friends who will kindly send them are at liberty to spell our name with one l or two, as they may prefer.

PRIZES $675.

In behalf of The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals I do hereby offer (1) $100 for evidence which shall enable the Society to convict any man in Massachusetts of cruelty in the practice of vivisection.

(2) $25 for evidence to convict of violating the recently-enacted law of Massachusetts against vivisections and dissections in our public schools.

(3) $100 for evidence to convict any member of the Myopia, Hingham, Dedham, Harvard or Country Clubs, of a criminal violation of law by causing his horse to be mutilated for life.

(4) $50 for evidence to convict anyone in Massachusetts of a violation of law by causing any horse to be mutilated for life by docking.

(5) Twenty prizes of $10 each, and forty prizes of $5 each, for evidence to convict of violating the laws of Massachusetts by killing any insect-eating bird or taking eggs from its nest.

ANÆSTHETICS, "THE CURSE TO VIVISECTIBLE ANIMALS."

By CHARLES BELL TAYLOR, F.R.C.S. and M.D., Edinburgh; Fellow of the Society of London; Late President of the Parisian Medical Society.

Let us now see what is meant by the assertion that anesthetics are employed. Dr. Hoggan says that anesthetics have proved the greatest curse to vivisection, and I entirely agree with him. The public would not tolerate vivisection for a day if they did not believe that the animals were rendered insensible, and the plain fact is that they are not rendered insensible. It is the public that is anesthetized—it must be so; for in many experiments, to render the animal insensible would be to defeat the object of the operator, such as those, for instance, connected with the reflex action from the sensory nerves; those connected with the glandular secretions, as in Hughes's, Bennett's and Rutherford's experiments on the liver; again, those on digestion, and those on the temperature of the heart and arteries, and those in which it is necessary to use a gas engine for artificial respiration; those on the phenomena of pain, the boiling, baking and stewing alive experiments; drowning, starving to death, alcoholization, and feeding on substances which are incapable of sustaining life. It is the same when the effects of drugs and poisons have to be tested; and also in a numerous class of experiments which require time—days, weeks or months—for their completion. The animal, if it goes to sleep, goes to sleep in health, in ease, to awake in torment that can only end with its most wretched life. And again, when an operation is performed and the animal is kept alive, often in great agony, in order that the results may be observed, as in numberless operations, and in all pathological experiments. Besides it is most difficult to render an animal insensible and at the same time keep it alive. Vomiting frequently interrupts the process, during which the animal comes around, and my experience with chloroform on dogs is that as soon as they are insensible they cease to breathe, and this experience is borne out by that of Professor Pritchard, of the Royal Veterinary College, a gentleman who has had more experience in this direction than any man living, who says, in effect, that as soon as the animal is insensible you find that it is dead. "They appear for some time not to be under the influence of it at all, and then suddenly they come under the influence of it, and we find it impossible to bring them around." The practical consequence of this is, as Dr. Hoggan has remarked, "that complete and conscientious anesthesia is seldom even attempted, the animal getting, at most, a slight whiff of chloroform, by way of satisfying the conscience of the operator or of enabling him to make statements of a humane character." Dr. Walker's evidence before the Royal Commission was to the same effect. He said: "It is quite true that anesthetics are used, but by that you understand that while the animal lived and was experimented on he was, throughout, insensible, it is the greatest delusion that ever was." Physiologists are well aware of these facts, hence you find it stated that they occasionally use ether; but it is very difficult, owing to the conformation of face, and the necessity for tying the mouth up, to give ether to dogs, the animals principally operated on; you require to smother them, and if the anæsthetic is intermitted for a moment they come around; and we consequently find it stated that the ether has been supplemented by morphia injected under the skin, which, although it stupefies, does not prevent the animal from feeling. Or, worse of all, curara—"the hellish woorari," as Lord Tennyson very properly calls it, which, while it paralyzes motion, actually increases the animal's susceptibility to pain, pain described by Claude Bernard himself as "the most atrocious the mind of man can conceive." * * * Cruelty is cruelty with whatever object it may be perpetrated; and it is an insult to common sense to pretend that the man who flays dogs alive by the score is not cruel simply because he says he is trying to find out something about the functions of the skin. * * * Surely, if there is a future—surely, if man is responsible—surely, if it is the merciful that shall obtain mercy—it is not kind of us to allow our misguided friends to go on with this bloody work, or to bow down to those eminent men in our own profession who would conduct our youth into the same path, which, if there be any truth in religion, can but lead to destruction.

VIVISECTION IN DENVER, COLORADO.

A sensation has been caused in Denver, Colorado, by the vivisection of a cat by the physical instructor of the Young Men's Christian Association before a class of seventeen boys, ranging in age from twelve to sixteen years. The matter has been taken up by the Humane Society, and Secretary Whitehead, according to the account that has been sent to us in the Denver Republican, is conducting an investigation of the affair. In speaking of it to a reporter he said:

"Nothing has happened in Denver for a long time which has so aroused the people as the cutting up of the cat at the Y.M.C.A. rooms, reported exclusively in yesterday's Republican. Arrests would certainly be made only for the fact that it is almost impossible to prove that the cat was alive after the knife was used."

"I have found that the boys who witnessed the affair have been able to talk of nothing else since. One boy went home last night and was unable to eat his supper. The boys tell me that none of them were able to stay in the room during the entire operation. Many of them were made sick by the sight and left the room several times during its progress."

During my talk with Professor Haskell I reminded him that several States had passed laws prohibiting men who are engaged in the business of butchering or slaughtering animals from sitting on juries in capital cases, because of the influence the killing of animals has upon them, making them incapable of having a proper regard for human life. I asked him if he had considered the influence the nailing of a cat scarcely dead upon a board would have on young boys, and he answered: "I had never thought of that."

"There is little doubt in my mind that the cat still had life when the second dose of chloroform was given. The exhibition was surely most brutal. More persons have called at my office to-day than on any previous day for months. Many of them were most indignant and demanded a complete investigation. Among those who have especially interested themselves in the case is State Senator Merritt, a prominent Y.M.C.A. worker. Senator Merritt expressed himself very strongly on the subject and wanted it thoroughly aired."—Journal of Zoophily.

We have repeatedly asked for a single instance in which any important new medical discovery has been made in the past 25 years in Massachusetts, New England, or the United States by vivisection, with the name and residence of the discoverer, and though this paper goes every month to several thousand physicians, have received no reply.

Massachusetts has the first, and so far as we know, only law prohibiting vivisection in the schools.

$1000.

In behalf of "The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals" I offer One Thousand Dollars for evidence to convict ten persons in Massachusetts of violation of our state law by cruel vivisection—namely, One Hundred Dollars for evidence in each case.

Feed the Birds in Winter.

KANSAS CITY, MISSOURI.

Glad to learn on December 16th by letter from Mr. Edwin R. Weeks, President of the Kansas City Humane Society, that about six thousand children in the public schools of Kansas City have taken the pledge of our "Bands of Mercy."

IF THERE WASN'T THERE OUGHT TO BE.

We regret to learn that the New Hampshire State Society P. C. Animals, with a fund of $15,000 or more, has decided to limit its present work to the small city of Portsmouth, except in cases where outside complainants will pay all expenses. We have given many addresses in New Hampshire—mostly to large audiences—and mostly at our own personal expense. We know that there is no New England state where active work is more needed for the protection of dumb animals (especially in summer), and we wish we had a few thousand dollars to employ a faithful earnest man like the late president of the New Hampshire Society to constantly travel through that State for the protection of its dumb animals from cruelty.

Many of our readers will remember the case in which a New York multi-millionaire (to decide a bet) drove four of the best horses of the State, drawing himself and friends on that terrible race from the base to the top of Mount Washington, where the horses arrived almost dead, and the millionaire and his friends were roundly hissed by all who witnessed their arrival.

We cannot think of that race without remembering how a clergyman who had been preaching all summer that there was no hell, told his congregation on the last Sunday [after finding he could not collect his salary] that if there wasn't a hell there ought to be.

GEO. T. ANGELL.

SOME TIME AGO.

Some time ago we received this letter, "Mr. Angell, come over to No.—South Boston, and kill a cat."

Good Lord!—we never killed a cat in our whole life, and we wouldn't for $100, unless to relieve great suffering when we could find no one else to do it.

And we don't know that we are particularly squeamish or faint-hearted.

When a small boy we took care of and rode one of the fastest horses in Vermont—at a later period we had a contract with a Boston stable-keeper to ride every evening any horse in his stable which needed exercise, without regard to whether the horse had ever been ridden before; and at various times in our life we have had considerable practice in firing a revolver at a mark, and twice in our life have had occasion to break a stout cane over the backs of street rowdies, but we never killed a cat. In fact the last animal we killed was a woodchuck which we shot when a boy, and the shooting of which we have ever since regretted.

But we must admit that we have sometimes dropped a torpedo into a back yard in the night simply to notify cats that we should be much obliged if they would kindly moderate the tones of their voices.

PREMATURE INTERMENTS.

We see by editorial in the New York Tribune, copied from the Chicago Tribune, that Dr. Chalmers Prentice of Chicago, oculist, will soon give to the medical world a discovery he has made, that by use of the ophthalmoscope it is possible to determine infallibly whether persons supposed to be deceased are or are not really alive. The article occupies a column of the New York Tribune of December 12, 1897.

RUSSIAN DOCTORS.

Russian doctors wear, as a sign that they are legally qualified to practise, a little znak, or badge, a silver oval plate one and one-half inches long by an inch wide.

THE YOUNG QUEEN OF HOLLAND.

We see by Boston papers that the Privy Council of Holland have decided that the young Queen [sixteen years old, we believe] must give up her bicycle, of which she is passionately fond, because it is inconsistent with royalty. If she were like some American girls we have known we think she would tell the Privy Council they might ride on saw-horses if they wanted to, but that she would continue to ride on her wheel.

PURE FOOD.

We are glad to see that high officials connected with our National Department of Agriculture propose to call a convention in Washington to obtain from Congress laws on the above subject.

As those who have read our Autobiographical Sketches know, we expended in bygone years much money [and time for which in our profession or other business we should have charged thousands of dollars] to investigating and attempting to stop the adulterations of our foods, finally obtaining action of Congress and sending out over the country [largely at our own expense] more than a hundred thousand copies of information we had gathered.

We need only say now that we were fully convinced that in no nation of the civilized world was there so much poisonous and dangerous food sold as in our own.

In regard to the one article of teas, for instance—one of the largest wholesale grocers of Boston told us that there was only one kind of tea sold in his store at that time which he would permit his own family to drink.

RALPH WALDO EMERSON.

It is an amusing story that we read the other day, how Ralph Waldo Emerson stood about half an hour looking at the Egyptian Sphinx, but when the Sphinx said to him, "You're another," he left.

This reminds us of what Boston's great lawyer, Jeremiah Mason, said after listening to one of Mr. Emerson's lectures, and being asked how he liked it, "I don't know anything about it; ask my daughters."

"A thousand cases of cruelty can be prevented by kind words and humane education for every one that can be prevented by prosecution."

AN EASTERN LEGEND.

There's a tender Eastern legend,
In a volume old and rare,
Of the Christ-child in His garden
Walking with the children there.

And it tells—this strange, sweet story—
(True or false, ah, who shall say?)
How a bird with a broken pinion
Dying, in the garden lay.

And the children, cruel children,
Lifted it by shattered wing,
Shouting, "Make us merry music,
Sing, you lazy fellow, sing."

But the Christ-child bent above it,
Took it in His gentle hand,
Full of pity for the suffering
He alone could understand.

Whispered to it—oh, so softly
Laid His lips upon its throat,
And the song-life, swift returning,
Sounded out in one glad note.

Then away, on wings unwearied,
Joyously it sang and soared,
And the little children kneeling
Called the Christ-child "Master—Lord."

A FREE PASSENGER.

There are always pleasant people on the Pullman overland trains. Sitting but a little way in front of me was a bright young man, and as I looked at him I saw to my surprise a squirrel peep out of his pocket and look timidly about. Finding the coast clear he came and sat on the young man's shoulder. Of course, there was soon a crowd about the little animal, but he took the curiosity he awakened in very good part. He had many charming tricks to show off; now he was on the brim of his master's hat, next on the very apex of the crown; then he ran up the arm of a gentleman who extended his hand, and sat unconcerned on the top of his head. We could not contain our delight at this little passenger that was riding without a ticket.

You can hardly imagine the pleasure that this little animal produced; every day he was ready for play. In a short time he would run from one end of the car to the other, eat from the lunch baskets, or nestle in the muff of a lady and go to sleep.

A HAPPY FAMILY.

'Twas a bitter cold morning; the new-fallen snow
Had pierced every crack where a snowflake
could go;
The streams were all solid, the ice sharp and
clear;
And even the fishes were chilly, I fear.

Almost all the wild creatures were troubled
and cold,
And sighed for sweet summer, the shy and
the bold;
But one thrifty family, as you must know,
Was breakfasting merrily under the snow.

Close by a tall tree, in a hole in the ground,
Which led to a parlor with leaves cushioned
round,
Five jolly red squirrels were sitting at ease,
And eating their breakfast as gay as you please.

THE KITTEN AND THE BEAR.

Lieut. C. D. Rhodes, U.S.A., relates in St. Nicholas the following story of how a kitten compelled a bear to flee:

Chris Burns, the veteran First Sergeant of Troop D, had a kitten which, during the summer camping of the troop at the Lower Geyser Basin, made her home within the sergeant's tents. Here, curled up on a pair of army blankets, she defied the world in general, and dogs in particular. When the latter approached she would elevate every bristle on her brave little back, her eyes would glow like live coals, and her tail would swell up threateningly. If dogs approached too near, she would hiss and exhibit the usual signs of hostility until the intruders had vanished from her neighborhood.

One day, when the camp was bathed in sunshine and every soldier in camp felt lazy, an inquisitive black bear came down the mountain side, and, whether because he was in search of adventure or because attracted by a savory smell from the cook's fire, began to walk about among the white tents of the cavalry command.

Suddenly the kitten caught sight of him. Dogs by the score she had seen, but this particular "dog" was the largest and the hairiest dog she had ever seen. But she did not hesitate. It was enough for her that an enemy had invaded her special domain. Hissing forth her spite, while her little body quivered with rage, she darted forth at the bear. The onslaught was sudden, and one glance was enough for Bruin. With a snort of fear, Bruin made for the nearest tree, a short distance away, and did not pause until he was safely perched among the upper branches! Meanwhile the kitten stalked proudly about on the ground beneath, keeping close guard over her huge captive, her back still curved into a bow and her hair still bristling with righteous indignation, while her tail would now and then give a significant little wave, as if to say, "That's the way I settle impertinent bears."

The soldiers, who meanwhile had poured forth from their tents, could scarcely believe their eyes; but there was the bear in the tree and the kitten below, and there were those who had seen the affair from beginning to end.

And perhaps the strangest part of it all was that the bear would not stir from his safe position in the branches until the kitten had been persuaded to leave her huge enemy a clear means of retreat! Then he slid shamefacedly down from his perch and ambled hastily off towards the mountain.

[We have seen a kitten drive a large dog out of a store as fast as he could travel, but this is the first case we ever heard of a kitten driving a bear.]

"THE GREAT ARMY OF MERCY."

"On the stormy nights of winter, when the tempest is on, and the great waves come rolling in on our Atlantic coast, if you could look through the darkness you would see for hundreds of miles along the coast strong men, bronzed by exposure to the weather, walking all night long like sentinels, up and down, peering out into the darkness.

"By and by a vessel—perhaps a great steamer—comes driving ashore. A signal light is flashed, other strong men come hurrying down the coast with life-saving apparatus. If a boat can live, the life-boat is launched and, manned by brave fellows, pulls out into the storm. If a boat cannot live, then a life-line is fired over the vessel, a cable is drawn on board, a chair is rigged on the cable, and backward and forward it plies until every passenger and every sailor is saved.

"Another division of the great army of mercy."

THE COAST-GUARD.

Do you wonder what I am seeing
In the heart of the fire aglow,
Like cliffs in a golden sunset,
With a summer sea below?
I see, away to the eastward,
The line of a storm-beat coast,
And I hear the tread of the hurrying waves
Like the tramp of a mailed host.

And up and down in the darkness,
And over the frozen sand,
I see the men of the coast-guard
Pacing along the strand,
Beaten by storm and tempest,
And drenched by the pelting rain,
From the shores of Carolina
To the wind-swept bays of Maine.

No matter what storms are raging,
No matter how wild the night,
The gleam of their swinging lanterns
Shines out with a friendly light.
And many a shipwrecked sailor
Thanks God, with his gasping breath,
For the sturdy arms of the coast-guard,
That drew him away from death.

And so when the wind is walling,
And the air grows dim with sleet,
I think of the fearless watchers
Pacing along their beat.
I think of a wreck, fast breaking
In the surf of a rocky shore,
And the life-boat leaping onward
To the stroke of the bending oar.

I hear the shouts of the sailors,
The boom of the frozen sail,
And the creak of the icy halyards
Straining against the gale.

"Courage!" the captain trumpets,
"They are sending help from land!"
God bless the men of the coast-guard,
And hold their lives in His hand!

HYPNOTISM.

SHEBOYGAN, WIS., Special.—Prof. G. W. Ferguson, instructor in drawing in the public schools of this city, who was charged with practicing hypnotism on a number of pupils, was dismissed from the school by the board of education. The evidence presented was of a sensational character, and showed that Ferguson had been exercising his art in the school buildings, keeping the little girls until five o'clock in the evening to use his power. His work was confined to girls of a very tender age exclusively, but there was no evidence of any evil intent, except that of satisfying his love for hypnotism.—La Moure [North Dakota] County Chronicle.

THE ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH AND THE ANIMALS.

"May I be allowed in reply to Mr. Cunliffe's letter in your April number to state that he is quite mistaken, both with regard to the present Pope's attitude towards the animal question and that of the Roman Church towards bull-fighting. In February, 1894, Leo the XIII. instructed Cardinal Rampolla to inform M. Uhrich, the President of the French Society for the Protection of Animals, that the work of his Society (this had special reference to bull-fighting, about which M. Uhrich had written to the Pope), 'was most acceptable to his paternal heart on account of its very humane and Christian object,' 'sommamento ac ette al di Lulcuore paterno, andre per lo scopo altamente umanitario e cristiano.' Pope Pius the V. issued a bull condemning bull-fights in the strongest terms, describing them as sports worthy of demons rather than men, declaring all rulers who should permit them to be held in their territories ipso facto excommunicate, denying Christian burial to the combatants and warning all participants therein that they thereby incurred the anger of God 'Indignationem omnipotentis Dei.'—From The Animals' Friend, London, Nov., 1897.

DENNIS THE COACHMAN.

"Dennis," says she, "Ye'll find thim kittens," sez she, "and ye'll dhrown them kittens," sez she.

"Dade, an' I won't thin. It's a dacent b'y I am, and it's not for dhrowning kittens and that like dirty work that I kem here at all.

"And what's this in the bar!? Marcy, presarve us! It's Tab and the kittens! Shure now, Tab, what for would ye sarve me such a mane trick as to put yourself right here foreinst me very nose! 'That's the most unkindest out of all!' And it's dead ye ought to be yourself."

Tabby stood up. She arched her back, and waved her tail, and sang Dennis a sweet song, and the heart of Dennis melted within him.

"Bedad!" quoth Dennis, "It's a black shame to murder the little bastes." And Tabby arched her back and sang her siren song.

Suddenly the stairs creaked. Tab's eyes glared wildly at Dennis. Dennis started guiltily as he looked at Tab. Stealthy footsteps approached the barrel. "Dennis! Dennis!" cried Connie, "where are the kittens? Cook says Tab has some kittens, and you're going to drown them. But you won't, will you, Dennis dear. Please, please, don't drown them!"

"You're not to drown those kittens, you know, Dennis," said Rex. They belong to us—to Connie and me."

"O Rex! here they are in the barrel. One, two, three, four, five, six, dear, darling kittens, all squirming about. O! Dennis! do put them all in my apron," and she held it out, and looked at him with blue, beseeching eyes.

"And what will I say to horr?" said Dennis, pointing upward.

"It's none of her business," said Rex. "I guess we can do as we like with our kittens. Give the kittens to Connie, and I'll take old Tab, and we'll hide 'em in the barn, where she can't find 'em."

Dennis went cautiously to the foot of the stairs and listened. Then he said, "Whisht! She's not there at all. Run, me darlins! Stand not upon the orther of your goin'."—Journal of Education.

LITTLE GIRL SOLVED THE PROBLEM.

A street car horse on the Ninth avenue line balked at Forty-sixth street last night. A crowd collected, and the passengers got out of the car. The driver brought his whip down across the horse's back without effect. A stout man who had just stepped off the car said: "Don't do that, I'll get him started." He rubbed the horse's nose, patted him on the neck, and talked persuasively, all without result. By this time four cars were stalled. Somebody suggested oats, another kerosene, a third a patrol wagon. Another held a burning newspaper under the horse. Still it didn't move.

At last a girl of about 13 pushed her way through the crowd and said: "Say, mister, if you'll ring the bell twice the horse will think somebody has just got off, and he'll go ahead."

The conductor pulled the bell and the passengers had to run to catch the car.

WE THANK THEE, LORD.

For the manifold gifts and graces
That have fallen to our share,
For the cheer of familiar faces
As we tread life's thoroughfare;
For the friendships that are unbroken,
The feuds that have passed away,
While thy praise by the land is spoken,
We thank Thee, Lord, to-day.

For the boon of life and the duties
Each day with its dawning brings;
For the ken of the hidden beauties
Which dwells in the lowliest things;
For that sense of ourselves which humbles,
And checks the condemning word,
By our side when a brother stumbles,
We give thee thanks, O Lord.

For the spirit which bade defiance
To doubt and discouragement,
For the weakness that placed reliance
In Thee when our strength was spent;
For the aid of those inspirations
Whereby higher our efforts soared,
And the conquest of fell temptations,
We thank Thee, benignant Lord.

For the meed of our toil and labor,—
The gifts of Thy graciousness;
For that view which discerns a neighbor
In each creature in distress;
For the joys of love and the laughter
That banishes care away,
And for faith in the glad hereafter,
We give Thee thanks to-day.

A TALE OF A BONNET.

A TRAGEDY IN THREE PARTS.

Part 1. The Bonnet.

A bit of foundation as big as your hand;
Bows of ribbon and lace;
Wire sufficient to make them stand;
A handful of roses, a velvet band—
It lacks but one crowning grace.

Part 2. The Bird.

A chirp, a twitter, a flash of wings,
Four wide-open mouths in a nest;
From morning 'till night she brings and brings,
For growing birds, they are hungry things—
Ay! hungry things at the best.

The crack of a rifle, a shot well sped;
A crimson stain on the grass;
Four hungry birds in a nest unfed—
Ah! well, we will leave the rest unsaid;
Some things it were better to pass.

Part 3. The Wearer.

The lady has surely a beautiful face,
She has surely a queenly air;
The bonnet had flowers and ribbon and lace;
But the bird has added the crowning grace—
It is really a charming affair.

Is the love of a bonnet supreme over all,
In a lady so faultlessly fair?
The Father takes heed when the sparrows fall,
He hears when the starving nestlings call—
Can a tender woman not care?

THE NORTH-WEST.

A good friend writes us of terrible cruelty on the ranches in the North-west, and sending our American Humane Education Society a check for $50, asks us to do something to stop that cruelty.

The good Lord knows we will be most glad to do everything in our power in the way of humane education and otherwise, and hereby ask all editors in the North-west who receive this paper to encourage the formation of "Bands of Mercy," Humane Societies, "Prize Contests of Humane Speaking," and in every other way help us all they can.

THINK NOT THAT GOD DESERTS THE FIELD.

BY J. E. RANKIN, D.D., LL.D.

Think not that God deserts the field,
Though Truth the battle loses;
But grasp again Faith's sword and shield,
And follow where He chooses.
He shrouds Himself in dark events,
No mortal eye beholds Him;
And many an adverse providence
As in a cloud enfolds Him.

We see Truth's foes closing around,
Distrusting her resources;
Faith fills the teeming battle-ground
With chariots and with horses.
And lo, God's standard rises clear
Amid the smoke and thunder;
Embattled armies disappear,
Or into fragments sunder.

The baffled surf ebbs to the sea,
As though its task forsaking,
But to return more mightily,
In greater volumes breaking.
What God has sworn shall yet be done,
No pow'r of man can stay Him,
Upon the seas He plants His throne,
And all the waves obey Him.

Soldiers of Christ, take heart again,
Fear not dark portents solemn.
God moves across the battle plain
In many an unseen column.
The very stars of the blue night,
As they fulfil their courses,
Shall wheel obedient in the fight,
And add them to our forces.

WHAT A DOCKED HORSE TELLS.

- (1.) That the owner does not care one straw for the suffering of dumb animals.
- (2.) That the owner does not care one straw for the good opinion of nine-tenths of his fellow-citizens who witness the effects of his cruelty.

DOG SAVED HIS MASTER.

John Walker, of Roselle, N. J., was doing a lot of thinking on Saturday, August 14. He was face to face with death, and his dog averted the blow.

Walker left his house early in the morning for a stroll. His dog followed him. He tried to drive him back. Then master and dog started to walk along the Jersey Central Railroad track to Elizabeth.

Midway between the stations Walker met a heavy freight train, running rapidly eastward, making enough noise to deafen all other sounds. Walker stepped to the westbound track. His dog, which had been running ahead after birds or loitering behind to make short and noisy excursions into the bushes, closed in on his master when the train neared him.

Walker was careless. He never looked behind him and did not hear or see the Royal Blue Express. Brakemen on the freight train shouted warnings. The engineer of the express train blew his whistle, with no avail. It was too late to stop, although the engineer was trying to do so. Walker plodded on.

When the train was nearly on top of Walker his dog sprang at him with a growl. Walker turned, saw the train and stepped aside in time to avoid the cars as they swept past him with a roar. — N. Y. Press.

ROCKLAND (MASS.) INDEPENDENT.

We find in the above paper of September 17th [in an article on certain acts of cruelty and rowdiness which have taken place in the town of Hanover] the following—"One would think that some Harvard College hoodlums had broken loose and were trying to show off the advantages of an education."

There are lots of good men in Harvard University. What is needed there is a vigorous treatment of the hoodlums [whether rich or poor] who disgrace her.

"Just so soon and so far as we pour into all our schools the songs, poems and literature of mercy towards these lower creatures, JUST SO SOON AND SO FAR SHALL WE REACH THE ROOTS NOT ONLY OF CRUELTY BUT OF CRIME."

FOR THE LAWYERS.

As all the lawyers in Massachusetts receive our little paper every month we take pleasure in telling them how a young lawyer moved into a Connecticut town where there was only one lawyer before—an old judge.

A close fist old farmer thought there was a good chance to get some legal advice from the young man, gratis, so he dropped into his office, told him how glad he was that he had come into town, because the old judge was getting superannuated, and contrived in the course of the talk to get the legal information he wanted, and then bidding him good morning was about to leave when the young man asked for his fee. "What for?" said the old farmer. "For legal advice," replied the young lawyer. "How much is it?" "Five dollars." The farmer declared he would never pay it, and the young lawyer told him if he didn't he would sue him. So the farmer trotted down to see the old judge, whom he found hoeing in his garden, and said, "Judge, I went in this morning just simply to make a neighborly call on that young scamp of a lawyer who has just come in to town and he charged me five dollars." "Served you right," said the judge, "You had no right to go to him." "Well, have I got to pay it?" "Certainly you have." "Well, then, if I must, I must. Good morning." "Hold on," said the judge, "Aren't you going to pay me?" "Pay you, what for?" "Why, for legal advice, of course." "What do you charge?" "Ten dollars." The result of which was the old fellow had to pay five dollars to the young lawyer and ten dollars to the old one.

Moral.—Don't try to get legal advice for nothing.

[For Our Dumb Animals.]

A GOOD DRIVER IN A BAD PLACE.

I was glad to see in "Our Dumb Animals" an article concerning a humane cabman. The occupant of the cab was so surprised and gratified at the quiet and gentle way in which the driver guided his horse through a crowded thoroughfare, that she added to the fare and complimented the good fellow for abstaining from abuse.

We had ordered some coal from J. T., dealer. I sat by the window when the first load arrived, and as the team came up the soft, muddy avenue toward the house, I feared to see whipping and to hear swearing, and was on the point of retreating to the back part of the house to avoid the expected shock, when the driver began coaxing and patting the horses in the kindest manner. The poor beasts in return strained every muscle in their efforts to bring the load up the ascent. The driver encouraged and coaxed, and all three seemed to work with mutual endeavor and good will. But all to no purpose. The wheels sank into the soft mud, and it was evident the thing could not be done; so he dumped the coal right down in front of the house.

I could not help going out and telling him how much it gratified me to see a man who had feeling for his horses. "Well," said he, "I don't see any use in beating animals when they are doing the best they can for us."

The same man came again and was equally kind and considerate, though he succeeded in getting his load to its destination. I have seen him bring coal to a neighbor since the last snow came, and he took his shovel along to ease the bad places.

May this good driver, in his turn, be kindly dealt with; and in his journey through life, find some friendly hand to ease him in the bad places.

RALPH WALDO TRINE.

RALPH WALDO TRINE.

Ten years ago, in 1888, I offered to all college students in the United States a prize for the best essay on "The Effect of Humane Education on the Prevention of Crime," wrote all college presidents on the subject and sent to all college libraries bound volumes of our publications, and some seventy thousand copies of condensed information to college students.

Ralph Waldo Trine, then a student of Knox College, Illinois, and later a post graduate of Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, won the prize.

Mr. Trine has since that time won distinction as a speaker, as a writer for the press—as the author of two books highly praised by The Review of Reviews, The New York Independent, etc., etc.—and for his deep interest in our humane work.

While Mr. Trine cannot afford, as we did, to pay his own expenses and work without pay, he has kindly consented to hold himself in readiness to address influential audiences in the interest of our "American Humane Education Society" and "Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals" whenever proper arrangements can be made.

Letters consulting him can be sent to my care.

A BRAVE IRISH SETTER.

Mr. Charlebois's red Irish setter dog Dash made himself useful in assisting to get the sailors ashore from the ill-fated schooner in San Buena Ventura Cal., Wednesday, by swimming out into the breakers and bringing a stake ashore that had been thrown out of the vessel with a rope attached. It was a difficult feat for a dog to perform, as the rope pulled heavily against the waves—so heavily that it equaled almost a man's strength to get it ashore, but the faithful animal held on until he landed, when he was rewarded by acclamations and caresses from the assembled multitude.

WHISKERS.

The teacher of the Sunday-school class was telling the little boys about temptation, and showing how it sometimes came in the most attractive form. She used as an illustration the paw of a cat.

"Now," said she, "you have all seen the paw of a cat. It is as soft as velvet, isn't it?"

"Yesen," from the class.

"And you have seen the paw of a dog?"

"Yesen."

"Well, although the cat's paw seems like velvet, there is nevertheless concealed in it something that hurts. What is it?"

No answer.

"The dog bites," said the teacher, "when he is in anger, but what does the cat do?"

"Scratches," said a boy.

"Correct," said the teacher, nodding her head approvingly. "Now, what has the cat got that the dog hasn't?"

"Whiskers!" said a boy on the back seat.

The Alliance.
